2016 ANZIIF TurksLegal Claims Scholarship Submissions Open

The Australian and New Zealand Institute of Insurance and Finance (ANZIIF) and TurksLegal are pleased to announce the opening of submissions for the 2016 ANZIIF TurksLegal Claims Scholarship.

Recognising excellence in general insurance, entrants are asked to submit a 2,500 word essay answering one of five questions about the general insurance industry.

The winning entry will have the choice to be awarded an overseas conference package valued up to $8,000, including registration to the 2017 Claims Conference & Insurance Services Expo, in the USA, flights, accommodation and $500 spending money, or

$5,000 cash, and registration to the 2017 ANZIIF Claims Convention, with return flights and accommodation.

The winner is also invited to sit on the judging panel alongside senior industry leaders for next year's scholarship.

The ANZIIF TurksLegal Claims Scholarship runner-up will be awarded registration to the 2017 ANZIIF Claims Convention, with flights and accommodation.

"We are thrilled to again partner with TurksLegal to offer a member of the Australian insurance community this significant career development opportunity. This Scholarship will not only develop the winner's understanding of the industry in a global context, but will help them to develop their leadership skills and allow them to represent Australia and grow their professional network among their international counterparts," said Prue Willsford, Chief Executive Officer, ANZIIF.

Submissions for the ANZIIF TurksLegal Claims Scholarship close at 5pm (AEST) Monday 24 October 2016. For more information visit anziif.com/membership/scholarships or <http://www.turkslegal.com.au/community/scholarships/anziif-turkslegal-claims-scholarship>
