ANZIIF and AIMS sign agreement providing the members service providers network with ANZIIF membership

The Australian and New Zealand Institute of Insurance and Finance (ANZIIF) has entered an agreement with A&I Member Services (AIMS) that will see all members of the service provider equipped with an ANZIIF membership.

'Austbrokers and IBNA, via AIMS, have entered a new phase of their relationship with ANZIIF. Education is the cornerstone to any industry's growth, professionalism and value. We hope this new relationship will bring a high level of education and uniformity to our industry by providing a more consistent approach to our member brokers and investing in their careers. AIMS is extremely excited to provide this industry leading membership to all our members and their staff, and cement it as one of our core member offerings under our AKTED Academy' says AIMS General Manager, Glenn Schultz.

AIMS, a member services organisation and joint venture between Austbrokers and IBNA will provide their network of staff with an ANZIIF membership, which includes:

- access to training for professional qualifications
- full access to ANZIIF's Members' Centre, including 1,300 plus articles and interactive activities
- discounted tickets to ANZIIF professional development events, including seminars, breakfasts and conferences
- postnominal access to those who qualify as CIP members
- access to ANZIIF's CPD points tracker to record training undertaken.

'This agreement is a step forward for ANZIIF and our industry collaboration and partnership-based approach. It provides AIMS members a great opportunity to keep up to date on what is happening across a wider section of the industry, as well as providing members the opportunity for continuous development and learning,' says ANZIIF CEO, Prue Willsford.

The ANZIIF membership for all AIMS members will be available from Monday 4 September.
