Red letter day: ANZIIF receives finalist nominations in industry and education awards

The Australian and New Zealand Institute of Insurance and Finance (ANZIIF) has received two nominations for its education and training, being announced a finalist for both the LearnX Impact Awards 2015 and the 19th Asia Insurance Industry Awards.

The LearnX Impact Award nominates ANZIIF for the eLearning Development category, which recognises a company that has created a high quality, industry-specific project using expert talent, innovative practices, technical capability and support mechanisms. ANZIIF received the finalist nomination for its 2014 General Insurance Code of Practice course. The course was launched early last year to support the industry transition to the revised Insurance Code. ANZIIF was also a dual winner at the 2014 LearnX Awards.

ANZIIF has also been announced a finalist in the 19th Asia Insurance Industry Awards for the Educational Service Provider of the Year Award. This category recognises outstanding and quality-driven education and training services provided to the insurance and reinsurance industry in the Asia-Pacific region. ANZIIF is a ten-time winner of the title of Educational Service Provider of the Year.

Anton Barnett-Harris, General Manager, Education, Events & International, said the Awards show ANZIIF's dedication to providing world-class education and training based on collaboration with the insurance industry.

"It is an absolute privilege to be finalists for these two awards. ANZIIF is passionate about providing exceptional education and training and we do this by partnering with industry to ensure that everything we offer reflects the needs of business and insurance professionals. As we move into exciting but also challenging times, it is more important than ever that the insurance industry has top quality education, training and professional development to support its goals."
